

SUPERVISOR'S OPINION OF BACHELOR THESIS

Study programme: International Territorial Studies
Department: International Development Studies
Author of thesis: Jason Ofori
Name of thesis: Tourism and poverty reduction in Ghana: The case study of Cape Coast
Supervisor of thesis: Ing. Emmanuel Kofi Ankomah, Ph.D.

ASSESSMENT OF THESIS: (always add verbal comments)

1. COMPLIANCE WITH REQUIRED ASSIGNMENT:

The thesis is well structure and the text logically aranged to meet the requirements of bachelor thesis.

2. WORK WITH ACADEMIC LITERATURE:

Relevant literatures were appropriately cited and compiled into reference list to fullfill the format of bachelor thesis.

3. CONTENT LEVEL OF WORK:

The author was logical, coherent and consistent in his contribution to the solution of the problem of tourism in Ghana. Though the work is a case study in a particular area in Ghana called Cape Coast, it can be applicable to issues of tourim in Ghana as a whole. The author has shown good knowledge of the topic and has appropriately used his knowledge to provide an insight of a situation that is possible to bring profound development to tourism in Ghana.

4. FORMAL LAYOUT:

The thesis is well structured and the text logically arranged. All terminology used are adequately explained and the level of language is good

5. COOPERATION WITH SUPERVISOR:

The student was dynamic and hard working. He collected both primary and secondary data relevant to the research from the enumeration area and occasional visited the supervor's for some advice, though all the supervisor advice was not appropriately implemented.

SPECIFIC REMARKS AND COMMENTS ABOUT THE THESIS:

The main objective of this research was to bring understanding to the processes by which tourism can contributes to poverty reduction.

However the author focused on specific objective on the analyses of the effectness of tourism and employment.

The thesis is made up of 52 pages starting from: 1. the introduction 2. Literature Review 3. Methodology 4.Result and Analysis 5.Conclusion and Recommenndationand 6. Appendices. However the appendices are made up of 15 pages. The good thing about the appendices are that though many, they are relevant to the thesis. It captures the questionnaire used for the research and some important tourist attraction centers in Ghana.

On the issue tourism as a means of poverty reduction, I woul like the author to substantiate his fact by showing how tourism can provide the kind of employment which can reduce poverty in ghana.
