Other comments or suggestions:

The thesis covers an important topic revolving around various media sources and how they impact societal perceptions of truth and reality. There are interviews with multiple participants that help give insight into how information is obtained, digested, and discussed. The theory was well founded, and a solid portion of the practical does help achieve some of the objectives.

A critique of the paper is that there is not much focus on the element of family/community impact. Some participants give answers regarding differences of opinion/perception among family members, but there are not other methods of measurement to show the true impact. A follow up survey would help to clarify their perceptions.
