Do you think women are objectified? Do you think social media has a more negative or positive effect on the society in Jordan?
YESSS In my opinion I'd say both sometimes positive sometimes negative

No matter where woman go I think it a positive impact when it comes to sharing awareness about different matters

Yes because social media It does not affect our culture whatsoever since social media targets someone's interests depends on the community negative, in uneducated areas in Jordan some people aren't used to seeing certain things

Unfortunately yes, (excluding Amman) definitely negative, considering most kids get their phones at an early age (8,9) , it's

Yes, because of Men being the main attraction Both, while it should have more of a positive influence but a large portion of the Jordanian

yes yes yes, anything in WhatsApp is negative, ppl spend wayyy too much time on it social life is dead

Yes as the main attraction Negative, as we're being exposed to Western propaganda and lifestyles which are not yes yes we are, its always too positive, we more likely tend to explain our opinions and thoughts freely online and

Yes because our community Negative because it allows idiots to get famous and to reach higher numbers of followers

I don't have an opinion on it Positive, maybe they'll think differently

Women were objectified more Somewhat of both depends on who you follow and why you follow

Sorrrily yes which is wrong Negative because bored people who have nothing else to do start causing a huge

It has both negative and positive effect on people

Negative

Yes , because men only focus on women Negative , because not only is teenagers are affected by them but also kids

yes, comparing it to what it was before positive, some perspectives have changed to the better and hopefully it'll keep going

Negative, people get affected by bad people without noticing and start to act up upon them

Yes. It has to do with many things Negative, it has made most of our society highly critical of each other and allowed

They are /not sure why Negative

Yes they are! I believe it's a mix Somewhat positive as it has broken down the barriers between people yea cause its Jordan negative cause everyone believes stuff they shouldn't believe ofc no they just posted what they see positive effects we start knowing each other and knows new places new people

They are definitely objectified Its more of a neutral effect, due to them being positive but most Jordanians aren't yes more negative, its a judgmental society

Yeah, cuz men are men Positive

Yes both

Yes Both, it depends on the circumstances and what you interact with

Yes, it is ingrained within society Negative because Jordanians tend to follow trends blindly

yes. A LOT. women now are more empowered negative. although social media can really help to open doors for some people and

Yes sometimes, because it depends which part of Jordan it might be a place that is full of opportunities and resources

Ofcourse, women are objectified Both. On the one hand, social media does tend to bring people closer together and

Yes, i think women are more empowered I think it goes both ways. social media can be negative, especially since the Jordanian yes, because men believe in patriarchy i think it's somewhere in between, with social media Jordan was able to evolve socially yes i think women are objectified positive effect, showing our society how societies in other countries think and their

Yes because men and boys I feel like a bit of both , positively we learn more about other cultures and other things

no maybe some people get influenced in bad things

Yes but not all of them Negative, cause the society in Jordan is old fashioned yes in between ,it depends on the person and how they are going to use it .

not all the time, but in some cases positive, because we are more aware of different countries and different cultures

Yes, specially those who work in the private sector Negative ...because people in Jordan still doesn't have the ability to comprehend

There is a certain group in society Positive, because it is changes the way of thinking for some groups in the society

A not really

i notice that women are oft there may be a lot of downsides to social media, but lately people are starting to s

No yes ,Because it is one of the ways of social communication so when someone ge idk idk also

Not at all More negative because people in my age just follow the trend "wave" and i find th

yes they are because of all negative, they're close minded people

I don't know Sometimes it gives positive effects if its helpful for our society on the other hand

I don't know Positive, because the other countries can see our culture and a way to get money

Yes women are objectified It has a negative effect because the influenced people in jordan would do anythin

No Postive

No because they are wear Positive because it inspires people to do the same thing and get money

Yes because people or me Negative because everyone want to put u down and everyone is using it in a diffe

Jordan, and why?

atters since many of this people's country are ignorant. However bad people (aka trolls) will always exist on social media. They have interests and starts showing content accordingly. No one is viewing content out of their ordinary boundaries. Social media shows things which cause them to view a person and come to conclusions based on what they see on social media. This affects their mentality by being brainwashed by certain thoughts coming mostly from the west, such as beauty standards. Jordanian society were misguided by these platforms.

not willing to accept the change and become open minded.

in order to open more perspectives on specific topics, our society is brainwashed to think certain things in certain ways. Maybe for other it's just a tool to make time go faster.

social media has provided relief during trying times. However, when it comes to advertising & marketing & standards of living the Jordanian community is not all aware of it, and since different opinions can be terrible. However, it does benefit the community socially in great ways, it became relevant around the world. but with social media growing and spreading at a fast pace in our routines. Maybe even different people in Jordan as not everyone thinks in the same way. improving the social lives of individuals and maybe bond through the internet, negatively people might influence a person to do something bad.
