Other comments or suggestions:

The work provides a comprehensive overview of copyright and information technology law. The topic is too general and lacks a deeper insight into information technology law in particular. Copyright protection in the context of recent developments in information technology is a very topical subject that can be treated from many angles, but unfortunately this thesis does not deal much with the current developments.

Questions for thesis defence:

1. Do you perceive any important differences between EU and US law regarding copyright and IT?
2. Have you noticed any recent case law dealing with copyright and IT?
