Partial comments and suggestions:

This diploma thesis brings an analysis of ICT sector and its potential in the Republic of Rwanda. The author shows a good understanding of analysed topic and demonstrates a good analysis of ICT sector in Rwanda. However, the main results are formulated based on on-line questionnaire, while only 54 of them were answered. There are also some parts of text with different format settings in the theoretical part of the thesis. Nevertheless, the overall assessment of the thesis is very good.

Questions:

- 1) In the Figure 8 (page 36), there is development of GDP per capita in Rwanda. How can you explain extraordinary increase in Q1_2012?
- 2) What is author's opinion on the Question 5 - how do you rate the importance of ICT to economic growth, and why?

Overall assessment and classification reasoning:

This thesis fulfill all requirements of diploma thesis. Author shows both good understanding of analysed topic and the abillity to explain and introduce main results and conclusions.

Suggested classification: excellent - very good
